J&C Joel sponsor Super League fixture

J&C Joel was once again the official match sponsor as the Leeds Rhinos hosted St Helens at Headingley Stadium in the engage Super League.

In a gripping match, St Helens ran out 30-16 point victors over the Rhinos and claimed revenge for the corresponding fixture last season in which they were closely beaten.

In a depleted St Helens squad it was players from the Saints' academy who stepped up to help the side secure victory.

Two tries, five conversions: St Helens' Jamie Foster

20-year-old St Helens winger Jamie foster came away from Headingley with a 18 point haul after scoring two tries and kicking five conversions. St Helens' other tries came from Michael Shenton, Francis Meli and Paul Wellens, while Ryan Hall, Zak Hardaker and Paul McShane crossed the line for Leeds.

The result was particularly sweet for J&C Joel company director Tony Griffiths, a lifelong St Helens supporter. Tony had to endure a defeat in this fixture last season, which was also sponsored by J&C Joel.

Tony said, "It was a great result for me and a great occasion which everyone at J&C Joel were proud to be a part of. The game was a great advert for rugby league and the Super League, and I'm already looking forward to next season's match."

J&C Joel has a long history of working in partnership with the Leeds Rhinos and has sponsored engage Super League matches at Headingley for the past six years. Leeds Rugby's commercial director, Rob Oates said of the partnership, "Everyone at Leeds Rugby were delighted to welcome back J&C Joel as official sponsors for this match.

"We have had a great partnership with the company over the past six years and look forward to welcoming them back next season."

J&C Joel's CEO James Wheelwright receives a signed Leeds Rhinos shirt from rugby league legend Barrie McDermott after last year's fixture.
