Ben Roarty is heading home to Melbourne

After three successful years of playing professional rugby league for Huddersfield Giants and Castleford Tigers. Ben Roarty is heading home to Melbourne, Australia with his wife and family. During his stay in Great Britain and time as Huddersfield captain, Ben forged great links with J&C Joel and was often welcomed to J&C Joel's head office.

During the `Super Leagues` close season Ben was always looking for something extra to keep his body toned. So when James Wheelwright said the fire escape needed sandblasting and painting Ben jumped to the idea and took the task in hand. No mean feat as the fire escape has five levels. James confirmed, "This is typical of Ben he is a man who is always looking for a challenge and never flinched even when he realized the size of the fire escape. He completed the whole task on his own inside two weeks a great achievement".

On leaving behind a signed rugby shirt (see photo) that J&C Joel purchased at a fund raising event hosted by Ben to help a local person to recover from a serious illness. Ben said, "I have met some great people while I have been playing rugby in England, but I really took to the J&C Joel staff. As a professional sportsman I know what it takes to reach the highest levels and there are some really dedicated people working there".
