J&C Joel becomes member of BSI

J&C Joel is pleased to confirm that they have been accepted as members of the British Standards Institute (BSI). The BSI is the oldest and most respected standards body in the world. Membership enables the company to draw on the institutes resources both for current and future fire regulations to ensure that we continue to offer the best possible standards of FR Fabrics to the industry.

On receiving confirmation of acceptance, J&C Joel Managing Director Mr. Andrew Walsh commented, "I believe membership of the BSI increases the company's profile of offering quality products. In addition, ensures our compliance to the relevant BS standards for fabrics and promotes both a sense of integrity and trust and shows our customers our commitment to Excellence. Also with the ever changing European policies and industry standards, it enables us the influence change, as we and other textiles members are represented by the institute to ensure that a UK Textiles industry voice is heard in the Euro policies commission".
